

About Tere Bowen-Irish OTR/L

Tere Bowen-Irish has practiced occupational therapy for over 30 years. The focus of her practice is treating the whole child. Using a combination of life coaching, yoga and movement within the scope of Occupational Therapy, her services can be performed in the home or the school setting. She currently provides workshops for parents, health care and school professionals. School emphasis is on prevention and wellness for all school age school children. Her hope is to empower educators and children to function optimally, looking at today's classroom challenges with a new perspective.

What are the Possibilities?

"Prevention and wellness for all"

Here are the Possibilities...

Are you a parent looking for guidance, ideas or help for your child? Are you an educator wanting to help reach and teach all students? Do you need a fresh view of the child to gain a new perspective? How can we help the child fulfill their role as a family member, student, or friend? Tere's eclectic approach is geared towards looking at the child's abilities. Tapping into an ability model versus disability model opens up new possibilities' for intervention.

Service Options for individuals...

- My belief is that in-home service is the best option, versus an office appointment. What better place to see your child, but in a familiar environment? Options also include observing your child in their classroom to gain a better understanding of their functioning as a student.

Service Options for Education...

- In-service training for teachers, therapists and other educators designed to meet your specific needs. Whether it is 2 hour or a full day seminar your staff will leave with practical and functional strategies to try the next day.
- Collaborative in-classroom, co-active intervention. Point of performance cooperative involvement with students, teachers and Tere.

Tere has published the DRIVE THRU MENU SUITE through www.theraproducts.com. This system is designed for improving strength, attention, relaxation and stress-busting skills. Other publications include an interactive book, "Yoga and Me, Come be a Tree" and a school calendar for itinerant educators.
